You will receive a file upload was successful message once your chosen piece of work has been uploaded. You will have a 24 hour period from the point of upload to remove the file, after that time your work will be passed to your teacher/coordinator for authentication.

* Note: after this 24 hour period you will no longer be able to remove uploaded work.

The screenshot shows the IB Diploma Programme candidates' interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for 'ibo.org', 'Online curriculum centre', 'Blogs', 'Community theme', and 'IB store'. Below this, the page title is 'IB Diploma Programme candidates'. The user is logged in as 'Test Candidate' on 'Tue, 18 Aug 2009 09:10:46 GMT'. A navigation menu includes 'Home' and 'My Coursework'. The 'My Coursework' section is active, displaying 'Upload confirmation'. The message states: 'File upload was successful. The file can be removed and re-uploaded if necessary within 24 hours from now.' A link to 'Return to coursework list' is provided. The footer contains the copyright notice '© International Baccalaureate Organization (2004-2009)' and a link to 'Terms & conditions'.

When your file has been uploaded you can return to the coursework list. The submission status will change as you move through the upload process.

- “Awaiting submission” indicates that you have not uploaded your work yet.
- “Pending” indicates that your work has been uploaded and that you have a 24 hour period within which you can remove your work before it is sent for authentication by your teacher or coordinator.
- “Awaiting authentication” indicates that your work has been uploaded and is awaiting authentication from your teacher or coordinator.
- “Rejected (invalid)” indicates that your work has been rejected by your teacher/coordinator. This work can be removed and a different piece of work can be submitted. For example if you have uploaded your extended essay instead of your Theory of Knowledge essay.
- “Submitted” indicates that your work has been authenticated and submitted by your teacher/coordinator

Any queries regarding this process should be directed to your IB Diploma Programme coordinator.
